

The Erindalian

published by the Students' Administrative Government of Erindale.

VOL. 2 NO. 17

March 16, 1970

ERINDALE
COLLEGE
LIBRARY

Vote Sage Elections - - Tuesday March 17

SAGE ELECTIONS - CANDIDATES

ANDREW TESLAK
CANDIDATE FOR
PRESIDENT OF S.A.G.E.

ROBERT RUDOLF
CANDIDATE FOR
PRESIDENT OF S.A.G.E.

RAY NEILSON
CANDIDATE FOR
PRESIDENT OF S.A.G.E.

In beginning any new project, there is a lot of wasted motion. However after two years of mismanagement, a proper rapport with the students has not been established.

I do not possess all the answers or know all the questions. I hope if elected, I will be able to operate an open forum with my duly elected council and all members of the student body who have the patience and foresightedness to express their opinions.

My job as I foresee it will not be to determine policies, but to co-ordinate the activities of those who wish to become involved in dealing with problems raised by the open forums.

This is not to say that I have no opinion of my own, but I feel that any activity that SAGE takes by necessity must have student backing. The backbone of my policy will be better communication, which is the greatest weapon against apathy.

It is obvious that successful organization on campus is possible: e.g. the Italian Club and the Karate Club have been organized and continue to flourish.

Last year's platform was based on four major items: a year book for graduating students, course evaluations, coffee shop and communications. These all fell through.

One open forum will have to deal with the touchy problem of residence accommodation vs community college.

In the interest of brevity I will name three further issues which may be

Cont'd. on pg. 2

THE CONTEXT

Two years of covering S.A.G.E. meetings have made me aware of the problems facing student councils.

Council members are volunteers. The time that they spend working for the College is time away from their academics and their personal life.

The demands of time and effort to do a really superlative job for a council are great enough to cause conflicts between time for council work and a members other interests.

Therefore a member must feel a vital part of the whole. If not, it is most likely that it is the council that is going to lose out on the individuals full potential.

In my opinion, this is what happened to S.A.G.E. this year. The same communication problem that plagued the College as a whole was apparent in S.A.G.E. as well. The members were often spent in instructing council members of the issue and the history all so that they could make a snap decision minutes later. The weakness of this situation manifests itself in the number of unanimous decisions that are recorded in this year's minutes.

The discussions this year were in the main not informed. When ignorance exists, the feeling of uselessness arises. The cohesion is undermined and out the window goes the students' confidence in their Council.

THE PARADOX

As S.A.G.E. matures and grows more effective through experience, the College gets larger, more unwieldy and more static.

So, as young and experienced as S.A.G.E. is, it is really in the best position to make a contribution now. The administration has again and again maintained that they are receptive to new ideas, provided of course that they are well thought out and valid.

THE SOLUTION - A STRONG EXECUTIVE

An executive composed of five effective and devoted people is the primary need for a successful S.A.G.E.

First of all, they lend weight to the position of President in day-to-day decisions and also they spread the work-load which as a consequence increases the effectiveness of the between-meeting SAGE business.

A strong executive can speed up the meetings by helping to inform the members of the issues before the meetings and taking a leading role in the meetings to pull along the Council.

Finally and perhaps most important of all, should the executive become so strong (if only!) that the Council really becomes necessary and important to discuss and ratify the proposals, then SAGE will be running at full potential.

Please vote with care.

-monthly verbal reports by S.A.G.E. members to the students

-Big-brother program - 10 students (approx.) to one-professor. Students can 'safely' go to the professor for any type of help, if they wish to.

-orientation during the first week of school at noon and 5:00. This system would take advantage of the students' presence at Erindale.

-outdoor artificial rink instead of the too-costly bubble

-course evaluations and

Professor evaluations sent to the first year students or all students in the summer.

-Colman House continued as a social centre with "tea" dances (4-7 o'clock) and more live entertainment brought out to increase the productiveness of such programmes as the blood drive.

-restarting Colman House Coffee House with a built-in stereo, live entertainment weekly and outside university paid staff to run it on Fridays, Saturdays and possibly certain weekdays

-plenty to LISTEN TO.

Acclaimed Positions

There are five acclaimed positions on this year's council. They are SAGE treasurer, Paul Fairgrieve (upper left); 4th year representative, John Kanakos (upper right); SAC representatives, Bill Cooper, lower left, and Phil Dack, lower right. Phil Dack has also been acclaimed the representative for the Faculty of Arts and Science Council.

All Candidates Were Offered
Equal Space
In the Erindalian

Sage Elections Are
Your Responsibility!
Take It!

ROB MORNINGSTAR
CANDIDATE FOR 1ST VICE-PRESIDENT

The coming two or three years at Erindale College will be the most critical in her young life. Erindale, because of her young age, has the chance to do what few other U. of T. colleges can! We can change and/or restate the student governing factors. We can make a strong, united college. We can formulate new outlooks in all areas to be of benefit to the students work and enjoyment in the college. We can make Erindale a true college in all respects.

S.A.G.E. is the student administrative government FOR Erindale. The SAGE executives and year reps, are servants of the student body, but obviously cannot function without their (your) support. Give S.A.G.E. the chance to operate by your vote and by presenting your ideas.

While working this year on the Psychology Student-Staff Committee the Used Book Store sub-committee and course evaluation proposals, I have seen that, with only a little time and interest, matters can be changed and instigated to benefit the college. Give it some consideration and give it a try!

Vote for a strong S.A.G.E. for the governing will only be as good as the students who stand and vote with it!

EDITORIAL

Last week's Erindalian opened the issue of an athletic bubble at the College. As humorous as the name is, this proposition must be given serious consideration.

Next year, the predicted enrollment is 1200-1500 students at Erindale. At present, the athletic facilities that we possess are the Colman Garage, affectionately called the Field House, the football field and the tennis courts. The Garage offers no facilities for large team competitive athletics. At best, table tennis and judo are the most strenuous physical endeavours possible. Yet our Athletic Department boasts a championship basketball team in its own league and a highly competitive lacrosse squad. Volleyball also offers some potential as our team went as far as the semi-finals. But who saw them? Should we continue bussing teams around to the local high schools or downtown? This requires a great amount of time and money, and if it takes place during the day, the players either forget going to classes or forget playing the sports that they like. It is not a healthy attitude for any college of the U. of T.

It is not unrealistic that Erindale ask for some temporary athletic facility.

Hart House is out of date and is too small for the population on the St. George Campus let alone the increasing numbers of Scarborough and Erindale Colleges. In the planning stages, our athletic complex is not scheduled to be ready until the fall of 1971. Between now and that time, the union will be negotiating another contract. The possibility of another strike would set back the completion date substantially. In the meantime we might be losing the Garage and have it replaced by a revamped Physics Shed. To expect our student population to stagnate on buses and in high schools until the new permanent gym is built would be asking our teams to accept a permanent substandard quality of competition.

Today a brief is being presented to the ECC meeting at 4:00 p.m. by the Bubble Co-ordinating Committee. This committee is dedicated to get action on the Bubble before next winter. We need the Bubble. We cannot just sit and wait. If the report of the Committee is accepted, it will need the support of many people to get the Bubble up. Come to the meeting and watch the action happen!

LETTERS

SYMPOSIUM

The symposium held here last week was an exercise in futility. Student reaction indicated one of two things: (1) either the students are apathetic or (2) they don't have the problems that the symposium assumed they had.

From my experience the symposium was disappointing. The need for the symposium, or the idea that problems exist to which the students and the administration cannot handle was drummed up in a vacuum.

Michael Clare

TESLAK continued from page 1

discussed at length in the future. I felt that it would not be difficult to solicit student support for bleachers for our football team, the acquiring of banquet permits in order to establish a pub, and also to have a radio station for Erindale.

In closing I will put forth that Erindale College will not be closed Thursday through Sundays if I am your choice for President. Thank you.

ERINDALE — SCRAP VARSITY

"The Varsity" is the official newspaper of the University of Toronto and all of the students, through their fees, contribute to its operation. Do you feel though that your college, Erindale, is being represented sufficiently to justify the expenditure of these funds? How often have you looked through "The Varsity" and found even the slightest mention of Erindale? You may have found something jammed into a corner of a page once or twice this year.

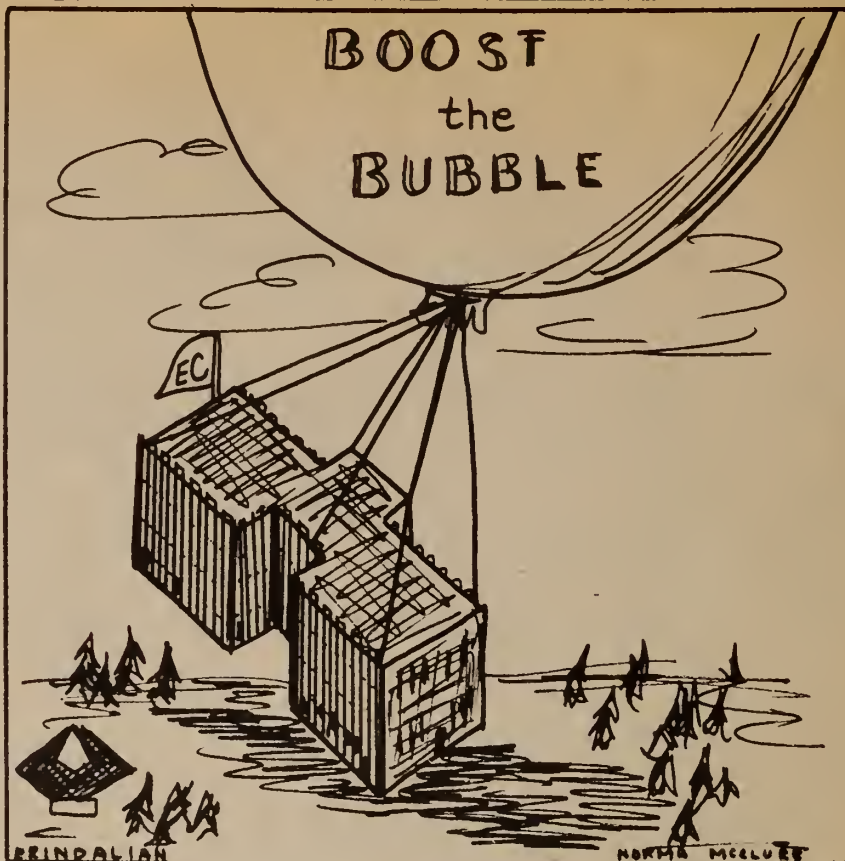

It is my contention that either Varsity acknowledge our existence and we be represented or we press for the withdrawal of our funds for the operation of the Varsity and expand and diversify our own newspaper, the Erindalian. Our newspapers could be circulated to other colleges to let them know that Erindale College does exist and that we are not a mere figment of their imagination.

Ed. Note: A copy of this letter is being sent to the Varsity. We also send the Erindalian to other colleges and universities.

New College Hours

The new rule is that 15 minutes after the library closes (Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday 11:00 p.m., Thursday 10:00 p.m., Friday and Saturday 5:00 p.m.) the college will be cleared of all students. The Student Common Room adjacent locker room and art room will be left open 24 hours per day, 7 days a week. If it is necessary to use labs and facilities after these hours special permission will have to be obtained from the Dean's Office.

NOW THAT'S BUBBLE POWER!

Research or Students

I was recently shocked to discover that a very large portion of the new buildings being erected on our campus are to be used for research projects initiated by a variety of faculties within the university. I realize that research is an important part of university activity, but is this where Erindale is going to place its emphasis? The undergraduate in this case would be short-changed at this college regarding a general education. It is my hope that the administration would re-examine the situation before embarking on this scheme.

The new buildings, which we have been watching anxiously through their various stages of construction, have been the hope, for many of us, that Erindale would assume the role as a full-fledged college within the University of Toronto rather than maintaining the image it has as a glorified high school. We are isolated from downtown and the main campus, therefore, we lack a great many of the advantages of the university.

The major thing lacking is a university atmosphere. We can only gain this by increasing the enrolment substantially and the building of a student accommodation on campus.

Erindale is a young college and has a great deal of freedom. As a result of this, therefore, I would like to suggest a different approach to student accommodation. I cannot see why a private apartment developer could not be approached to build apartment buildings on and around the campus which could be used as residences. In many ways it would be quite economical because a central kitchen and dining room area would eliminate the necessity for kitchen facilities in each apartment. Each apartment could consist of two or three rooms. This would allow a living area for occupants rather than the cramped quarters of a dormitory which are depressing by their very nature. The rents could also be reasonable so that it may actually cost a student less to live in an apartment than in residence.

A COLUMN

I do not want these people cluttering my mind. I do not want their faces peering into mine or their words coming between my thoughts. I only want to wander in the solitude of life and probe the shadowed corners by myself. I only want to look beneath the petals of flowers and the pages of books. I only want to curl up in the sunlight in the middle of the room. I only want to walk among the houses and the children in the cold, free air and dream. I only want to wander among the other people in the world. I do not always want to touch their arm and smile. I only want to walk along the sea-shore of my life and watch the waves of people moving in. Occasionally I may want to run and meet the waves. Sometimes I will stay and love awhile. Often I will stand in the sun-baked sand and gaze out to the lashing waves of the world and be alone. Among the sea-shells and the gulls my confused mind can wander. I can always move inland if the sea is threatening. I can always go to one I love. If I am too alone, I can always go to the sea-shore and wander. Mostly I can live my life in freedom, solitude and move easily in my shining sea-shore world.

deborah

You Can't Win
Them All
Dept!
MMM

UP and COMING

MONDAY, MARCH 16

Special lecture: The Early Years of the Cold War Re-Examined, Dr. Bill Berman, former History prof. at Erin. Rm. 292 from 2:00 to 4:00.

Nominations for editor of the Erindalian close today, elections will be held tomorrow.

Varsity Christian Fellowship discuss elections and the constitution, Rm. 270 from 5-6.

Erindale College Council Meeting in Rm. 292 at 4:00 P.M.

TUESDAY, MARCH 17

S.A.G.E. ELECTIONS!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Election of new editor for Erindalian.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 18

English Department presents Lonely are the Brave, 3:00 in Rm. 192.

Teaching Aids Committee meeting in Rm. 285A at 3:00 P.M.

E.C.A.R.A. ELECTIONS!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

THURSDAY, MARCH 19

Sociology Department presents Black Natchez and Portrait of a McCarthy Supporter in Rm. 292 from 5-7.

The School Liaison Committee presents a forum Two Futures - Yours and the University's, this afternoon.

FRIDAY, MARCH 20

The Varsity Christian Fellowship has a banquet at the Westwood Restaurant Tickets $3.50 call Don Brooks 621-3784.

Meeting of the Research and Graduate Studies Committee in Rm. 241 at 2:00.

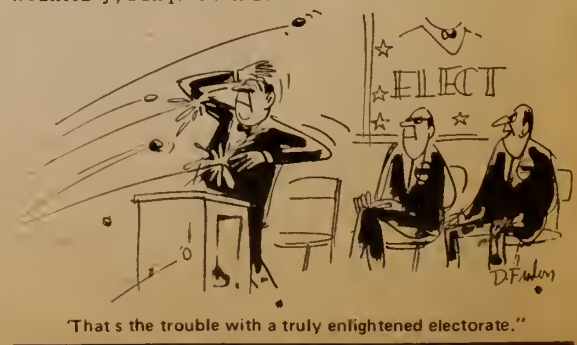

ALL WEEK

Formal tickets on sale in the S.A.G.E. office.

E.C.A.R.A. Banquet tickets on sale in Rm. 171 until Wednesday, Banquet this Sat.

Samuel Beckett's Endgame * Act Without Words I
directed by John Astington
March 18, 19, 21, 25, 27, 29
sat. & sun. matinee 2:30 discussion following matinee evenings 8:30
Harold Pinter's
The Dwarfs * A Night Out
directed by Jeremy Hole
March 20, 22, 26, 28
admission $1.50 students $1.00 — tickets available at theatre & university college cafeteria advanced reservations from march 8 — 928-6307.
evenings university college theatre 79 st. george with THE MODERN DRAMA GROUP

CINECLUB ERINDALE
presents
two more films
Monday, March 23 5 p.m.: Persona
by Ingmar Bergman
Monday, March 30 5 p.m.: Le Roi du Coeur
by Philippe de Broca
(with Allen Bates)
ROOM 292
Students interested in summer or fall on-campus housing, please indicate this interest at Room 219, Erindale College Housing A.

"That's the trouble with a truly enlightened electorate."

Election Candidates - continued

I am aware that most people at Erindale do not know who I am or what I have done for the college this year. First, my name is Ruth Hunter, I am in my first year. I am a candidate for secretary of SAGE.

This year I have worked on the Psychology Student-Staff committee and through hard work we were able to pass some significant changes that will be implemented next year. I am also the Erindale student representative to the Philosophy Dept. downtown.

My most time consuming project is the Used Bookstore for Erindale students next year.

—Ruth Hunter

In running for 2nd Vice President of S.A.G.E. I suddenly realized that here was a chance for me to get something done for the students of Erindale. In my 2 years here all I have heard are gripes and a lot of people asking what is S.A.G.E.? SAGE is the student government of Erindale to serve the students of Erindale. I do not think many students have taken advantage of this. If elected onto the executive council of SAGE for next year I aim to see that more students are aware of what SAGE is here for. I will personally meet and talk with 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th year representatives to see that they are properly serving the people they represent. I also personally invite any student of the college to see me about any problems that they think SAGE can help them with. I promise to attain some sort of action for them, at least their voice will be heard and they may feel SAGE is serving them. I also propose that more people are made aware of the loans SAGE allows to students who are in need of money to remain at Erindale and are not aware that the loans are interest free. Next year, also, I would like to see more social activities at Erindale such as dances and car rallies. In order to see that the students receive a better social program I am going to propose that the social representative be elected next fall, instead of appointed as in past years.

I would like to see you vote LONGO for your next 2nd Vice-President because I promise to work hard and efficiently for the students of Erindale so that no longer will the sound of "What is SAGE?" echo in the halls!

—Paul Longo

Moratorium for 750

Tuesday, March 10 was the date of Erindale's philanthropic (?) gesture. Of all those giving the gift of life, there was an extreme lack of student support. To make a grand total of one hundred and one donations, the faculty, support staff and concerned parties outside the Erindale community were called upon. Thanks are extended to those few students who took the time to bleed. The Red Cross was very interested in all publicity that they had received in the college paper. Surely more than ten percent of Erindale's students could have justified their optimism.

What happened to those other 35 people that gave in November? Were they too busy to go to their lockers and pick up their coats or have they turned into drug addicts? Some real excuses included medication, flat feet, and recent donations. Oh well!

—John Henry
—John Kanakos

As a candidate for Secretary of SAGE, I would first like to say that I feel a Secretary should do more than take minutes and type them up. Having worked on council in High School, as secretary, and having been a member of SAGE this past year, I have seen that there is a need for change and have learned how to go about getting it.

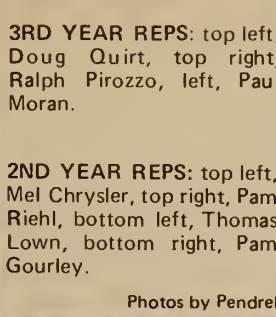

As all the other candidates have said, communication is the college's biggest problem. I feel that this could be changed by some work from a good Secretary. Many of you have noticed the new look on the bulletin boards outside the SAGE office. This is just a start in what I plan to do. Students want to, and NEED to, know what is happening here. As well, minutes and agenda should be made available for all the students to read prior to meetings so that interested students could attend and make their views known.

My other main idea for communications is a giant bull session in which anyone could speak and air his beefs — no matter how seemingly idiotic they are. These would be recorded and put to use if at all possible. This idea has been used at another U of T college and it worked.

There are many other ideas but I only have a small space... The choice for Secretary is up to you... please read my opponent's words and make your choice — but VOTE!

—Wendi Arntfield

erindalian staff

editor, perry white; managing editor, lois lane; sports jimmy olsen; layout, lana lang & friend winki; up & gone, john henry hazlewood; cartoonists, steve jankowski & normona; photos by pendrel, gratefully; staff this issue, T122, john nicknackers, alexandra, frank mendicino, fairly grievous paul, anonymous, bf/thc, mona again, and the various and sundry candidates who chose to or not to write panegyrics to themselves. not to be forgotten, my mentor, motherlode.

YOUTH '70

Last Saturday night success finally hit Erindale when the Italian Club presented Youth '70 to the college. Three hundred and fifty guests crowded into the Junior Common Room for an evening of dancing and dinner. A sea of faces were seated around candle lit tables in one half of the room while the Valentinos in the other half greeted your reporter upon her entrance followed by total disbelief. Was this room, (filled to over-flowing) the dirty old common room? — Somebody (or bodies) had obviously been hard at work. The dancing had started and stomachs were growling for food. When the food appeared, plates were grabbed and cries of "I'll get the chicken's casagna and you grab some pizza and olives and pastry" were heard. But no one had been disappointed — there was lots for all.

To whet appetites, the club had also arranged (courtesy of Johnny Shapiro's Men's Wear and Cortina Ladies Wear) to present a fashion show. Although his interest was only slight for the male section, Gene Cervini's interest perked up enough for the female half, to cause him to seat himself upon the garbage can.

The spring fashions were charming (the male favorite seemed with little doubt to be Adrienne Trull's bikini) but our table agreed that the highlight of the evening's fashion was Ron the busdriver's suit! (Did everyone catch his and Mrs. Anderson's fantastic dance?)

Seriously though — there was some argument at the S.A.G.E. meeting when the Italian Club requested $600 to present an evening like this. In my mind this doubt need not have been there. The Italian Club has shown us once again that with good organization and close team work they can present an evening's entertainment and attract the best crowd ever.

Congratulations and thanks are to be extended to Pres. Frank Mendicino and his club for a fantastic evening with the hope that they will be able to do it again soon.

In this campaign, my opponent is supporting many of the same issues that I am, so I can only re-emphasize my willingness to work hard for S.A.G.E. next year. I have been on the Erindale College Council as a student representative, the School Liaison Committee of this body and attended several S.A.G.E. meetings this year. Also my attendance at the Commission on University Government (C.U.G.) and Erindale Symposiums has made me aware of the problems facing the College and their possible solutions. Therefore, I feel I have acquired ample experience that can be put to use if elected 2nd Vice-President.

My interest in Erindale is genuine — I am really proud of this College. I like being here and will do my best for it!

Vote for E. "Tizz" Bell and I won't let you down.

—E. Bell

Contestants Vie For German Trip

On Saturday, March 7, Erindale was host to German language students from many Halton and Peel high schools. In room 292 the student's not all of whom are German descent, wrote an exam lasting one and one half hours. The exam also included an oral section.

The students, all from grades 11 — 13, arrived at the college early in the morning. After writing the exam they were given an address by Dr. Wilson and Dr. Rae. They were then treated to lunch by the college and invited on tours of the campus with our own Erindalian guides. Of particular interest to the guests was our modern language lab. Unfortunately the guides tried to operate the console and soon had to send for a Prof. for help. "Well, we did not mean to erase the tape."

The visitors were also invited to look at the eclipse of the sun through the myriad of optical equipment set up at the cafeteria door. Many students expressed great interest in the facilities offered at Erindale and some even came back that night to enjoy the socializing that our Italian Night '70 had to offer.

In the coming months, the same German students will be writing two more tests. After the papers have been graded, the student in first place will win a trip to Germany. High School sure was not like that when we were there.

ERINDALE WENDIGO HUSTLERS 1969-70

Back Row: L to R: Pat Saunders, Sue Weichman, Adrienne Trull, Pam Shaw, Dana Galuzka. Middle Row: Trish Piper, Pat Loucks, Jill Fisher, Donna Eby. Front: Mel, Maureen Nixon, Tizzabell.

Psych. Students Score

Friday, March 6, 1970 saw the pilot project of the faculty-student union come to a finale. The group of psych. profs. and class representatives endorsed the course evaluations inasmuch as they would be utilized to inform future students of the proposed courses' content. The evaluations will determine who is valuable in a teaching or research position, or who is not at all compatible for the job. Student response also determines the course's content. All courses will be evaluated via a questionnaire handed out by class representatives in each of the disciplines. Hopefully, these will be completed during the early weeks in April. The Psychology course is unique in that it will adopt, with a very minimum of red tape, the indicated student reactions.

A sub-committee of 1st year students called for a laboratory course, that would be optional, could be taken by Psy. 100 students. Graduate students, made available from the main campus, would supervise the experiments. (No human guinea pigs required.)

Dr. Krames and Pat Shannon suggested that the calendar should stress Psychology as a Science and not an arts subject, with appeal to both disciplines.

Bull-sessions for those taking psych. courses this year will be held in the Faculty Common Room every Friday until the end of the year. Several authorities from varied psychological fields will circulate and be available for consultation. Next year, when the new Science building is in operation, Friday afternoons will be left open for any students wishing to involve themselves in the discussion of various topics. This open room policy will be designed to bridge the existing gap between student and faculty. Coffee will be served in all of these sessions (as a stimulant for discussion.)

At present, most of us are worried about passing. However, after May the eighth, our concerns will be placed on what we will take next year. During Orientation Week, faculty and students will be available to encourage or even, discourage students from taking certain courses. Each student will be given individual attention. The course evaluations will play a major role in the operations of this advisory group.

Hopefully, the impetus of the Psychology department will diffuse to all of the other departments, in that they, too, can implement a similar comprehensive faculty-student relationship.

E.C.A.R.A. ELECTIONS

CANDIDATES WHO ARE RUNNING FOR THE FOLLOWING POSITIONS:

PRESIDENT	— DAVID (Rabbit) ADAMS — RONAN GROGAN
SECOND VICE-PRESIDENT	— ANN MURNAGHAN — NORM SMITH
TREASURER	— EZIO CRESCENZI — JOHN (Trucker) HEWIT — DAVE MCTAGGART

THE FOLLOWING POSITIONS HAVE BEEN FILLED BY ACCLAMATION:

FIRST VICE-PRESIDENT	— BARRY ROBB
SECRETARY	— NORMA MCCLURE
SECOND YEAR REP	— RON KISTRITZ
MALE & FEMALE)	— NANCY JAMIESON
THIRD YEAR REP	— DANA GALUSZKA
	— DOUG QUIRT
	— JAAN SCHAER
U.T.A.A. REP	— TRISH PIPER
W.A.A. REP

ELECTIONS MARCH 18 — VOTE!!

literati

Quietly, with unapparent labour, the sky
prepares itself
and dawn breaks
dazzling and complete.
And so the hidden
preparation of our lives
until the moment
of blinding recognition.

Alexandra

I have begun to loose the cords that knot be to present tenses.
You are the last.
I hold to you
for dear life,
and when you won't be held
life will cease precisely to be dear.

How closely loving resembles dying
becomes more clear
every hour I love
and you, my beloved, die.

Alexandra

The Blanket

Night is a blanket,
A thick, black, blanket,
Woven of soft evening breezes
And dyed in God's ink pot.
It flows and spreads,
Shook out by His own hands.
Then drifts softly down, covering man.
Under the blanket he is safe:
No mortal eyes can know
What evil or good lies hidden
Beneath the ebony down.
One can sin or be most pure (Or something in between),
But all keep daytime garb nearby
With which to fool the world,
For with a certain regularity
God's morning pulls the covers down.

—Mona

young men's minds are easily shaped
by old men's thoughts.

(old men's thoughts are greater, by virtue of age and experience.)

but experience does not always benefit, and age does not always make men wise . . .

so a young man must listen to his own voice,
his own reason,
his own passion.

only thus may he become unique.
b.f./t.h.c.

Quiet

Laughter stops.
Voices lower.
Good-nights said.
Doors close.
Lights die.
Quiet reigns.

I

am
alone.

Heart beats.
Breath flows.
Thoughts quicken.
Memories rush.
Pain jabs.

I

am
alone.

I cry.

—Mona

Joe Joy (left), and Rod Rice, who are promoting Joe as a
write-in candidate for
S.A.G.E. 2nd Vice President.

ART COMMITTEE PRESENTS

Ed Pincus — David Newman Film Festival
"Black Natchez"
"Portrait of a McCarthy Supporter" "One Step Away" Ed
Pincus will be present for discussion afterwards.

Thurs. March 19
5:00 Rm. 292

Friday, March 20
5:00 Rm. 292

THE PERFORMING ARTS COMMITTEE is pleased to announce the winners of the recent Play-Writing Contest

1st PRIZE of $50 has been awarded to MARK BRODZKI for On the Beach

HONOURABLE MENTIONS

Go to MARY KULEWICZ and KRYSTYNA KEPTA
for I Hit a Thin Green Candle and BILL WHELTON for No Sense of Values

Contestants are asked to pick up their entries in Rm. 112 as soon as possible.